

Proposed Water Recycling System (if any)

The water recycled in DRI kilns and MBF is used only for cooling purpose of the system. No water is used as raw material in the manufacturing process. So water circulated in the process system of the equipment to cool the equipment and devices and it is circulated to the storage tank again and after cooling to the normal temperature, it is again recycled and used in the system again. (Details described in the water management plan)
